

Quality Health First.[®]

Program

Better information for better outcomes.

ACCESS

Better information leads to better treatment, so information must be timely, complete and easily accessible. The Quality Health First program information is secure and robust. It includes laboratory results, immunizations, diagnoses, procedures and medication information, regardless of hospital system or location, in addition to claims information.

PROACTIVE CARE

With heavy patient loads and other demands, physicians can use all the help they can get. With the Quality Health First program, physicians receive easy-to-read patient summaries that include reminders for common health screening interventions to make the best use of time with the patient.

HEALTH MAINTENANCE

The Quality Health First program provides physicians with information to help keep their patients healthy. Monthly summaries help improve care coordination by allowing physicians to track their patients with chronic illnesses and take steps to proactively care for them. The program focuses on targeted diseases like high cholesterol, asthma and diabetes.

OFFICE INTEGRATION

The Quality Health First program was designed for physicians by physicians to be practical for daily patient care. But it's more than that. The program provides meaningful financial incentives from participating health insurers. Two-way information flow provides physicians with up-to-date care comparisons.
